REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: None of the prior art of record teach or suggest a transfer device for transferring preforms for the manufacture of receptacles by blow-moulding, comprising a series of plates (12A, 12B) to which are attached means (14) of supporting preforms, the plates (12A, 12B) being coupled one after the other in an endless movable curvilinear chain by means of articulations (16) capable of allowing the curvilinearity of the movable chain and simultaneously the rotation of the plates (12A, 12B) about a horizontal axis (AI) to allow the preforms to be turned upside down and/or set upright, characterized in that each plate (12A, 12B) is made in a single piece by moulding, in that each plate (12A, 12B) generally has the shape of a chain link and comprises a top horizontal plate (18) and a bottom horizontal plate (20) that are connected by at least one substantially vertical upright (22), in that the means of support (14) comprise, for each plate (12A, 12B) , two tubular bodies (38) that are attached to the plate (12A, 12B) , either side of the upright (22) , and that extend vertically through associated holes (34, 36) formed in the two horizontal plates (18, 20), each tubular body (38) being designed to receive internally a vertical rod (40) for supporting a preform, and in that each plate (12A, 12B) , called the first plate (12A) , is connected to an adjacent plate, called the second plate (12B) , via an articulation (16) comprising a first socket (44) mounted so as to rotate about a tubular body (38) of the first plate (12A) and a second socket (46) mounted so as to rotate about a tubular body (38) of the second plate (12B) , the two sockets (44, 46) being mounted so as to pivot one relative to the other about a substantially horizontal pivot axis (AI). The closest prior art (Cornet et al 6,125,996) discloses two separate plates that are connected to form a transfer device and does not allow a compact transfer assembly which allows the pitch between the consecutive preforms to be minimized.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
